A DECADE OF CHAMPIONING THE RIGHTS OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN ASEAN

ACWC Accomplishment Report 2010-2020

Background

1. At the 10th ASEAN Summit held in November 2004, the ASEAN Leaders adopted the Vientiane Action Programme 2004-2010 (VAP) which, among others, called for the establishment of an ASEAN commission on the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children.
2. At the 14th ASEAN Summit held in February – March 2009, the ASEAN Leaders adopted the Cha-am Huan Hin Declaration on the Roadmap for the ASEAN Community. The Declaration reflects the agreement that the ASEAN Political Security Community (APSC) Blueprint and the ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC) Blueprint shall constitute the Roadmap for an ASEAN Community (2009-2015). Significantly, the ASCC Blueprint 2009-2015 reiterated the mandate for the establishment of the ASEAN commission on the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children.
3. The ASEAN Commission on the Promotion and Protection of the Rights of Women and Children (ACWC) was inaugurated on 7 April 2010 in Ha Noi, Viet Nam, on the occasion of the 16th ASEAN Summit. The ACWC is mandated to develop policies, programmes, and innovative strategies to promote and protect the rights of women and children in line with upholding rights contained in the Convention on the Elimination of Violence Against Women (CEDAW) and the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC).
4. As a consultative ASEAN body, the ACWC is composed of representatives for women's rights and children's rights coming from governments, civil society organisations, academe, as selected by the respective appointing authorities in the ASEAN Member States. The Representatives serve on a voluntary and part-time basis. The Rules of Procedures for the ACWC and the complete list of ACWC Representatives on Children's Rights and Women's Rights are presented in Annex A. The ACWC reports to and supports the work of the ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Social Welfare and Development (AMMSWD).
5. The ACWC convenes regional workshops, seminars, training sessions, and consultative meetings that provide platforms for government officials, civil society organisations, professionals and other stakeholders to exchange views, share experiences and build commitments and common understanding. It likewise undertakes strategic studies and action research to develop policy recommendations and regional guidelines to actualize the rights of women and children in the region.

6. The ACWC engages strategic partnership with ASEAN's Dialogue Partners, ASEAN Sectoral Bodies, such as the Senior Officials Meeting on Social Welfare and Development (SOMSWD), the Senior Official Meeting on Transnational Crime (SOMTC), the ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights (AICHR), the ASEAN Committee on Women (ACW), and the ASEAN Committee on the Implementation of the ASEAN Declaration on the Protection and Promotion of the Rights of Migrant Workers (ACMW), as well as with international organisations and civil society organisations. The ACWC regularly convenes Open Sessions with Partners and Partnership Conferences to exchange updates on new and emerging trends and issues as well as to explore areas for future collaborations.

Snapshot of accomplishments

7. In the past ten years, the ACWC has implemented two work plans covering the periods of 2012 – 2016 and 2016-2020.
8. At the 5th ACWC Meeting held on 2-5 July 2012 in Jakarta, Indonesia, the Work Plan for the period of 2012-2016 was adopted. The ACWC Work Plan 2012-2016 covered 18 thematic areas of work with 17 regional projects. The ACWC Work Plan 2016-2020 was adopted at the 15th ACWC Meeting held on 4-6 September 2017 in Phuket, Thailand. The ACWC Work Plan 2016-2020 covered 16 thematic areas of work with 48 regional projects.
9. Apart from the implementation of the work plans, the ACWC has been actively engaged on cross-sectoral and inter-pillar cooperation across the ASEAN Community. The areas of cooperation mainly cover the elimination of violence against women and children, trafficking-in-persons, and promoting gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls, among others.
10. Reflecting on the broad range of work undertaken, the ACWC has been able to achieve the following:
 - i. The ACWC has established itself as a highly specialized and credible ASEAN body with expertise on promoting and protecting the rights of women and children.
 - ii. The ACWC fulfilled an increasingly significant role in setting the policy agenda of ASEAN on women and children's rights.
 - iii. The ACWC has trailblazed the path in shedding light on emerging issues.
 - iv. The ACWC led pioneering action research that contributed to evidence-based policy and programme development.
 - v. The ACWC has built and continues to strengthen capacities.
 - vi. The ACWC has increased awareness on the necessity of promoting and protecting the rights of women and children by expanding its public outreach.
 - vii. The ACWC has amplified the voices of women and children by engaging various ASEAN bodies.
 - viii. The ACWC has steered development cooperation with ASEAN's partners towards the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children.

5. During both periods of 2012-2016 and 2016-2020, the ACWC work plans were able to accomplish activity achievements under the thematic areas and in response to the ACWC's mandates and functions. Details of the progress of the achievements of the work plans are presented in Annex D.
6. In response to the requirement in the Line of Reporting and Review, the ACWC has prepared the Accomplishment Report on the Work Plan 2012-2016 and Work Plan 2016-2020 to present the accomplishments of programme implementation during the ten years' period focusing on the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children. This Accomplishment Report compiles both activity achievements in two programme periods: 2012-2016 and 2016-2020 as well as the reflections and recommendations for the future programme.

QUALITATIVE DESCRIPTION OF ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The ACWC has established itself as a highly specialized and credible ASEAN body with expertise on promoting and protecting the rights of women and children.

7. The ACWC has been successful in mobilising political consensus to reach an agreement on the organizational foundations of the commission. Concretely, this milestone is reflected in the Terms of Reference (TOR) of the ACWC which came into force upon the approval of the AMMSWD. Adjusting to the changing regional and global milieu as well as the realities faced by the commission, the ACWC reviewed and revised its TOR starting in 2016. The updated ACWC TOR appears as ANNEX B.
8. In compliance with the TOR, the ACWC has submitted reports to AMMSWD of its activities including accomplishments, challenges and recommendations on the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children as well as other appropriate reports. Also, the ACWC Chair has regularly joined and presented the reports of the ACWC during the AMMSWD Meetings.
9. The ACWC has also been able to leverage political consensus in order to mobilise financial resources to support the work of the commission. Concretely, the ACWC successfully developed and agreed on the terms-of-reference of the ACWC Fund, which mandates the one-time mandatory contribution of each ASEAN Member State, the establishment of a complementary fund that is open to contributions from ASEAN's partners, and the guidelines on the utilization of all received funds. To date, all ASEAN Member States have remitted their contributions to the ACWC Fund. The terms-of-reference of the ACWC Fund appears as ANNEX C.

10. Since its establishment, the ACWC has consistently convened its bi-annual regular meetings. These regular meetings of the ACWC were held alternately at the ASEAN Secretariat and/or ASEAN Member States. Moreover, the ACWC held special meetings on a variety of matters ranging project implementation to engaging with other ASEAN bodies, entities and partners.
11. As evidence of its credibility as a human rights commission with expertise on women and children's rights, the ACWC has successfully engaged with, and in turn has been requested to lend its expertise to, other ASEAN bodies. The ACWC's cross-sectoral and inter-pillar collaborations and partnership are elaborated in other parts of this report.
12. Lastly, the ACWC has been able to establish its online presence through a website. With the support from the Regional EU-ASEAN Dialogue Instrument Human Rights Facility (READI HRF), the ACWC website has been operational and served as a platform to share reports, policy recommendations, and other updates on ACWC's work. Further, the maintenance and updating of the website is planned to be managed under the terms-of-reference of the ACWC Fund.

The ACWC fulfilled an increasingly significant role in setting the policy agenda of ASEAN on women and children's rights.

The 18th ACWC Meeting, 8 March 2019, Jakarta, Indonesia

13. ACWC has occupied a unique position in the constellation of ASEAN bodies and entities to provide strategic direction and policy focus on the enlivening the rights of women and children in ASEAN. In the past ten years, the ACWC has been able to shape the policy agenda of ASEAN that addresses critical issues on realizing the rights of women and children, and amply frames regional cooperation to facilitate collective action. A specific example of how the ACWC has realized its role and contributed to ASEAN's work is in mobilising political consensus on eliminating violence against women and violence against children in the ASEAN region.

14. The ACWC conceptualise, developed, and shepherded the building of consensus that led to the signing of the Declaration of the Elimination of Violence Against Women and Children in ASEAN by the ASEAN Leaders in (2013). This ASEAN Declaration mandates the ASEAN Member States to promote and protect the rights of women and children from all forms of violence in the region. to provide support through appropriate instruments and actions and measures among others, reinforcing or amending national legislations to eliminating violence against women and children, and integrating legislations, policies and measures to prevent and eliminate violence against women and children and to protect and assist the victims/survivors in the national development plans and programmes, review its progress, and mobilise resources required for implementation.
15. To translate the declaration's vision into action, the ACWC jointly led the development of the ASEAN Regional Plan of Action on the Elimination of Violence against Children (RPA on EVAC) (2016) in collaboration with SOMSWD, and the ASEAN Regional Plan of Action on the Elimination of Violence against Women (RPA on EVAW) (2016) in collaboration with the SOMSWD and the ACW, respectively. These ten-year roadmaps outline the regional priorities and thematic areas of work at the national and regional levels. In particular, the regional plans of actions mandates law enforcement officers, policy makers, social workers, health personnel, and other stakeholders to develop, implement, monitor and evaluate gender responsive preventive and protective legislations, policies and measures for women and children victims of violence. It also calls on strengthening partnerships with external parties at the international, regional, national and local levels, including with ASEAN Dialogue Partners, UN Agencies, civil society, community-based organisations, academia, philanthropists, and private entities.
16. The ACWC, in partnership with the ACW, conceptualise and developed the ASEAN Declaration on the Gender-Responsive Implementation of the ASEAN Community Vision 2025 and Sustainable Development Goals which was adopted by the ASEAN Leaders during the 21st ASEAN Summit in November 2017. This ASEAN Declaration provides the high-level political commitment to integrate gender perspectives in the work of ASEAN across the three ASEAN Community pillars.
17. The ACWC, in partnership with the SOMSWD and the AICHR, conceptualized and developed the ASEAN Enabling Masterplan 2025: Mainstreaming the Rights of Persons with Disabilities which was adopted by the ASEAN Leaders during the 33rd ASEAN Summit in November 2018. The master plan contributes to the implementation of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) at the ASEAN level, and pursues the principle that for all actions concerning persons with disabilities their interests and needs must be taken into consideration.
18. In response to the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic in the ASEAN region, the ACWC convened a special meeting to deliberate on protective and preventive measures for women and children at risk of domestic violence during the pandemic.

The ACWC has trailblazed the path in exploring emerging issues.

19. In the past ten years, the ACWC has navigated the evolving landscape of women and children's rights in the ASEAN region. Societal changes such as the unprecedented breakthroughs and pace of advancement in the field of science and technology has brought opportunities and threats. And the ACWC has managed to leverage its position to shed light on emerging issues but also build consensus among ASEAN Member States. Some examples of these initiatives include the following:
- a. Declaration on the Protection of Children from all Forms of Online Exploitation and Abuse in ASEAN which was signed by the Heads of ASEAN Member States (AMS) in November 2019 at the 35th ASEAN Summit. Through this ASEAN Declaration, the ACWC has succeeded in mobilising ASEAN's commitment to protect children from all forms of online sexual exploitation and abuse.
 - b. ASEAN Declaration on the Rights of Children in the Context of Migration signed by the ASEAN Leaders during the 35th ASEAN Summit in November 2019. Through this ASEAN Declaration, the ACWC has succeeded in identifying measures and establishing mechanisms to ensure the protection of children driven from their homes by conflict, poverty, disaster, climate change, and environmental degradation, experience exploitation, deprivation and discrimination on their journeys within and across borders.
 - c. Ending early child and forced marriages. The ACWC has acknowledged the importance of developing an integrated strategy and multi-stakeholder approach to end child marriage in the region. In partnership with the ASEAN Secretariat together with UNICEF, UNFPA, and Plan International, regional forums were convened to raise awareness on Child, Early, and Forced Marriage (CEFM) in Southeast Asia, highlighting the challenges and potentials of girls and society at large in ending CEFM and mobilising actions to accelerate the elimination of violence against women and children.

- d. Joint Statement on Women, Peace and Security in ASEAN adopted at the 31st ASEAN Summit in Manila, the Philippines in November 2017. The ACWC, in partnership with the ACW, pursued the development and adoption of the joint statement which emphasizes the importance of women's equal, full and effective participation at all stages of peace processes given their necessary role in the prevention and resolution of conflict, peacebuilding and peacekeeping.

The ACWC led pioneering action researches that contributed to evidence-based policy and programme development.

20. The ACWC has undertaken numerous researches and produced a number of regional studies and reports which shed light on the situation and well-being of women and children in the ASEAN region. Such studies and reports have also served as the bases for ACWC's policy recommendations and contribution to the broader development agenda of ASEAN. Some examples of the studies and report include the following:
- a. ASEAN Guideline on a Non-violent Approach to Nurture, Care and Development of Children in All Settings (2016) which reflects the serious concern of ASEAN and the expression of commitment of the ACWC and its contribution to the well-being of children and to the elimination of violence of children in ASEAN. The guidelines serve as guidance to those who nurture and care for children to enable them to attain their potential and well-being and work towards the elimination of violence against children.
 - b. Regional Review on Laws, Policies and Practices within ASEAN relating to the Identification, Management and Treatment of Victims of Trafficking, especially Women and Children (2016) which described and assessed the legal and policy frameworks within the ASEAN region related to trafficking-in-persons. It showcased good practices and highlighted policy and practical issues that would require collective action.
 - c. Progress Report on Women's Rights and Gender Equality (2016) which established a baseline data profile of the ten ASEAN countries on assessing women's progress on women's rights and gender equality.

- d. ASEAN Early Childhood Care, Development and Education Quality Standards (2017) which focuses on the promotion of adequate and suitable education to equip children with the necessary skills to survive and thrive throughout their lives. The quality standards provide guidance on developing and measuring the quality of ECCDE programmes.
- e. Ending violence against children in ASEAN member States: Baseline study of priority areas under the ASEAN Regional Plan of Action on the Elimination of Violence against Children (2017), which provides an overview of existing initiatives by ASEAN Member States in relation to the implementation of the ASEAN RPA on EVAC, and provides examples of lessons learned, highlights initiatives, approaches or services as good models. The baseline study also identifies gaps and opportunities under each priority area.
- f. ASEAN Regional Guidelines on Violence against Women and Girls Data Collection and Use (2017), which can be used to advise and guide ASEAN Member States on how to collect and use prevalence, administrative and costing data. The Guidelines are a useful tool to strengthen national VAWG data methods and systems of Member States. These guidelines aim to provide clarity on the differences between the types of data related to VAWG that are usually collected and used and their different purposes and uses.
- g. Ending violence against children in ASEAN Member States: Mid-term review of priority areas under the ASEAN Regional Plan of Action on the Elimination of Violence against Children 2016-2025 (2019), which demonstrates the progress being made in the region and highlights the continued commitment of ASEAN Member States to addressing violence against children. The review also highlights areas of limited progress and gaps that require immediate action, especially in light of Target 16.2 of the SDGs, which committed States to eliminate all forms of violence against children by 2030.
- h. Study on State of the Child in ASEAN: Commemorating 30 Years of the Convention on the Rights of the Child (2019), which reflects upon ASEAN member States' achievements towards the realization of children's rights since adoption of the CRC. In addition to celebrating past successes, this report also considers implications for the present, identifying remaining challenges and emerging issues in an ever-changing world.
- i. Legal Identity of All Women and Children in ASEAN: A Regional Synthesis (2020) as an implementation of a regional project on promoting inclusion and sustainable development through ensuring the recognition of the legal identity of all women and children in ASEAN. The project undertook this study on inclusion and sustainable development and the building of ASEAN Community through increasing civil registration coverage and access to identity documentation, preventing statelessness, and realizing the right to a nationality for women and children in ASEAN through national laws implementation.

The ACWC has built and continues to strengthen capacities.

21. The ACWC has undertaken initiatives to build and strengthen the capacities of various stakeholders, as well as itself as a consultative commission, on various thematic issues. These initiatives have taken a range of interventions from the development of regional guidelines to the design and conduct of training workshops. Some examples of these initiatives include the following:
 - a. Strengthening the Institutional Capacity of the ACWC. The project comprehensively reviewed the ACWC's organisation's strengths, processes and policies that are in place and provided analysis of gaps and needs for the ACWC to fulfil its diverse mandates and expectation. The review was expected to assist ACWC in planning, strategising and operationalising the goals and work plan of ACWC.
 - b. Gender Sensitive Guideline for Handling Women Victims of Trafficking in Person (2016). The development of this guidelines introduces gender perspectives in the analysis, implementation, and evaluation of policies and programmes, legislation and judicial processes related to combating human trafficking. The guidelines provide guidance to law enforcement agencies, social workers, health officers, service providers, and other frontline agencies and non-government organisations in managing human trafficking cases.
 - c. ASEAN Regional Guidelines and Procedures to Address the Needs of Victims of Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children (2019). The regional guidelines provide practical knowledge and information to front-line responders to cases of trafficking-in-persons. Its particular focus is on responding to the differentiated needs and situation of women and children victims of trafficking-in-persons. Further, the Model Implementation Toolkit was developed to support implementation of the Guidelines. The Model Toolkit aimed to take the Guidelines one step further by identifying practical steps that ASEAN Member States can take to promote and support their effective implementation.

- d. Promoting the Rights of ASEAN Women and Children through Effective Implementation of the Common Issues in CEDAW and CRC Concluding Observations with Focus on Girl Child. Regional workshops have been organized that provided a venue to identify priority issues, and areas of concern related to the implementation of CEDAW and CRC in ASEAN. These have been undertaken either by ACWC, jointly with other ASEAN bodies such as the AICHR, or in partnership with international organizations and civil society organisations such as UNICEF, UN Women and CRC-Asia. A myriad of issues related to the implementation of CEDAW and CRC were discussed in these workshops within the specific national contexts as well as the ASEAN region.

The ACWC has increased awareness on the necessity of promoting and protecting the rights of women and children by expanding its public outreach.

22. The ACWC has utilised various approaches and strategies to share information about its work on the rights of women and children. Public outreach initiatives have taken various forms, from dedicated regional advocacy campaigns to regular issuance of press releases and media advisories. These undertakings targeted a range of audiences including ASEAN sectoral bodies and ASEAN's partners, civil society organisations, various stakeholders, and the public in general. Some examples of the public outreach initiatives include the following:

- a. Public campaign on the elimination on violence against women. The ACWC annually produces a video spot that illustrates various forms of violence experienced by women throughout the life cycle, from childhood to the senior years. This regional public campaign advocated to stop violence against women. ACWC has engaged the Senior Officials Meeting Responsible for Information (SOMRI) to ensure that the video spot is publicly broadcasted in each ASEAN Member State using their respective broadcast networks.

- b. Awareness-raising campaign on combating the social impacts of climate change on women and children. The ACWC has developed a specific video spot that advocates prevention and raises awareness on the social impacts of climate changes in the ASEAN Community. This public campaign focuses on the dimensions of climate change as it affects the lives of women and children as well as vulnerable groups in the region.
- c. Campaign on trafficking in persons, especially women and children, and the elimination of violence against women. The ACWC has developed a specific public campaign that targets women migrant workers. Specifically, the information campaign that is broadcasted across the region provides information on detecting incidences of trafficking-in-person, as well as information on reaching public authorities to report such cases.

The ACWC has amplified the voices of women and children
by engaging various ASEAN bodies

Address the Needs of Victims of Trafficking in Persons and Practitioners' Workshop

23. The ACWC has been able to effectively engage multiple ASEAN sectoral bodies and entities, and influence the policy discourse in order to introduce and institutionalise women and children's rights perspectives in the work of such bodies. Some examples of these engagement include the following:
 - a. ASEAN Committee on Women (ACW). Considering the intrinsic linkages between the work of the ACWC and the ACW, a regular consultative platform has been established to synergize and coordinate the work of both bodies. The ACWC-ACW Consultation Meeting is annually held and serves as a regular platform to discuss joint actions on common areas of work such as on gender mainstreaming, gender and climate change, women, peace and security, and ending violence against women.

- b. Senior Officials Meeting on Social Welfare and Development (SOMSWD). The ACWC programmatically engages the SOMSWD in the areas of children's rights and welfare, children with disabilities, online protection for children, children's participation, among others. The ACWC also contributes to the implementation of the Regional Framework and Action Plan on Implementing the ASEAN Declaration on Strengthening Social Protection led by the SOMSWD.
- c. ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights (AICHR). The ACWC has engaged the AICHR on a number of initiatives anchored on promotion of human rights in the ASEAN region. The thematic areas of cooperation range from the implementation of and building capacities on human rights frameworks such as CRC and CEDAW, to developing regional frameworks such as the ASEAN Enabling Masterplan 2025: Mainstreaming the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
- d. Senior Officials Meeting on Transnational Crime (SOMTC). The ACWC has contributed to the work of the SOMTC in implementing ASEAN's agenda on combatting trafficking-in-persons (TIP) in the region. In particular, ACWC actively participated in the development and implementation of the Bohol TIP Work Plan 2017-2020.
- e. ASEAN Institute for Peace and Reconciliation (ASEAN-IPR). The ACWC has engaged the ASEAN-IPR to synergise regional initiatives that moves forward ASEAN's work on women, peace and security. In particular, ACWC's engagement with ASEAN-IPR is guided by the implementation of the ASEAN Joint Statement on Promoting Women, Peace and Security Agenda.

The ACWC has steered development cooperation with ASEAN's partners towards the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children

ASEAN-EU Dialogue on Gender Equality and Empowerment of Women and Girls
22 October 2018, Hanoi, Viet Nam

24. The ACWC was able to pursue and nurture partnerships with ASEAN Dialogue Partners, international organizations, civil society organisations, and other stakeholders. Engagement with the partners has been regularly undertaken through the conduct of the Open Session during ACWC's regular annual meetings. This platform provided the opportunity for ACWC's partners to interact with the ACWC Representatives, share information on areas of common interest, provide updates on on-going joint projects, and propose key areas for future collaboration. These partnerships led to the implementation of concrete development projects that contributed to the advancement of women and children's rights in the ASEAN region. Some examples of these partnerships include the following:
- a. The ACWC's partnership with the European Union through the Regional EU-ASEAN Dialogue Instrument (READI). The ACWC joined the other ASEAN bodies on human rights namely the ACW, the AICHR, and the ACMW to implement regional projects under the READI facility. Specific to the ACWC, these projects cover the thematic areas of child protection system and the right of children to participate in all affairs that affect them.
 - b. The ACWC's partnership with USAID through the US PROGRESS and subsequently the US PROSPECT projects, focusing on gender mainstreaming across the three ASEAN Community pillars and advancing women, peace and security agenda in the region. Likewise, the ACWC continues to explore potential collaboration with Canada and Australia on women, peace and security.
 - c. ACWC's partnership with civil society organisations such as the Child Rights Coalition in Asia (CRC Asia) on building capacities on implementing the Child Rights Convention, and child participation, Forum Asia on the conduct of the Regional Workshop and Consultation of the ACWC with CSOs on the ASEAN RPA on EVAW and ASEAN RPA on EVAC, as well as with the ASEAN Disability Forum (ADF) on developing the ASEAN Enabling Masterplan 2025: Mainstreaming the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
 - d. ACWC's partnership with the United Nations particularly with UNICEF, UN Women, and UNHCR, among others.

*ASEAN Regional Strategic Workshop to Prevent Trafficking in Persons

Reflections

25. Looking back at the past ten years, the ACWC has identified the following reflection points:
- a. Institutional capacity. The ACWC has championed the realization of the core mandates and strengthen institutional capacities to meet the scope and demands of the work. Challenges were met in the areas of technical capacity and support, especially at the initial stage of operations, to meet the scope and demand of work of ACWC.
 - b. Project and programme management. Achieving political consensus on regional initiatives to be collectively undertaken is different from the actual implementation of such initiatives. Due to a combination of factors, project conceptualization and approval, and project implementation have involved lengthy processes. Overcome lengthy processes involved in the development, assessment, and implementation of projects and programmes Also, there was a tendency to implement one-off projects. This approach led to the observation that outputs would need to be linked and contribute to the results and outcomes that the ACWC intends to achieve. A need to shift to a more programmatic and results-oriented approach to identifying and prioritizing regional initiatives that are responsive to the region's context and circumstances.
 - c. Availability of resources. Mobilising technical and financial resources to ensure the full implementation of regional projects in the work plans of the ACWC was a constant challenge. However, at the regional level, the leadership of the ACWC Representatives together with the ASEAN Secretariat in mobilising resources has proven to be an effective approach. At the national level, ACWC Representatives were able to gather support from various government agencies as well as civil society organisations to support specific projects.

The Future

- 26. The ACWC is facing a horizon that is fraught with much uncertainty considering that the world is far different from when the commission was established. The promotion and protection of the rights of women and children have to contend with a world that is becoming smaller and connected but still divided and unequal. Technological advances and the burgeoning digital world are changing the challenges to realizing the rights of women and children. And the on-going global COVID-19 pandemic has unearthed and even exacerbated threats to the rights of women and children in the ASEAN region.
- 27. The ACWC is faced with the opportunity to drive the agenda and discourse on the promotion and protection of the rights of women and children in ASEAN. Catalyze policy action by building on and scaling up gains and accomplishments in light of changing terrain on the rights of women and children brought about by global and regional developments. The ACWC continues to reaffirm its role to influence strategies and approaches, and to ensure that future initiatives are focused on delivering its mandate.
